RIEL THE CRANK.

Says the People Compelled him to Fight—Indignant at the Priests.

The Mounted Police and Hudson Bay Officers Abuse the People and Their Rights.

The eastern papers contain an account of an interview between the Rev. C. B. Pitblado, of Winnipeg, who accompanied the forces in the Northwest, and Louis Riel, on board the Northcote while en route for Saskatoon. He describes Riel as a cunning, intelligent man. Riel said he did not know what the authorities would do with him. He was forced to fight by the mounted police and Hudson bay officers. They tyrannized over the half-breeds and abused their power. "They would take everything from us, except the nose," he said.

THE FIGHT AT BATOCHE.

"Is not this a bad job for you?"

"Yes, very bad; but good Providence has prevented it from being worse. Had the Indians we expected joined us, we would have been much stronger and abler to resist."

"How many men had you in the fight?"

"About five hundred. I expected an attack on the north side of the river, and left 150 men to resist the attack on that side. This weakened us on the other side."

"Where were you during the fight?"

"At first, when the mist was on the river, I was on the north side, but when the attack was made I went everywhere among the men, and all through the pits."

"How many of your men were killed?"

"Eight, and two wounded, I fear fatally. One was wounded in the breast and the other in the abdomen."

"Were the priests friendly to you?"

"They were not and they were. They insisted on us being submissive to them. They were against us trying to redress our own grievances. Ever since the doctrine of infallibility of the pope was propounded they have been very tyrannical. They did not wish the people to do anything, but the priests to do all. If they had been in favor of peace I would have been with them. They were in favor of fighting for the priests, but not for the people. They used a double-edged sword. They turned the people against them because they assumed civil functions. They turned the Protestants against them because they opposed them. The priests seek power for themselves, not for the good of the people. They are against the Protestants, both politically and religiously. They are against me now, not because I rebelled, but because I did not succeed in helping them."

CONTINUE TO FIGHT.

Riel further said that the people compelled him to fight and would not let him go back to Montana. He was on the way to give himself up to Middleton when captured by the scouts.

"Will the Indians fight?" was asked.

"I don't know," replied Riel. "Otter's attack on the Indians prevented them from joining us. Had they come, as they expected, the fight would have been worse. I had about 250 of them with me."

"Did you send messengers to them over the country after the Fish Creek battle?"

"Yes. I sent them to Qu'Appelle and Battleford, but not to Calgary."

RIEL NOT ONE WITH THE CHURCH OF ROME.

Mr. Pitblado writes: Riel declares that he is not one with the church of Rome. He is evidently trying to create sympathy for himself among Protestants. His great antipathy of the priests consists in his hatred for their interference in many matters. They have too much to do with civil affairs. The council at Batoche passed a religious creed of distinct doctrine which they wished to teach the people.

Mr. Pitblado gave a sketch of the creed thus promulgated from which it is evident Riel hoped to gain support from all denominations on religious ground.

THE CLAIMS OF THE HALF-BREEDS.

In a second letter Pitblado gives a conversation in which Riel set forth the claims of the half-breeds, when ensued the following:

"Why should you rebel to get this granted?

"We did not rebel; this matter is not rebellion. We have never yet been treated with about our rights. The half-breeds of Manitoba have entered into a treaty. That treaty stipulates that the arrangements to be made with the half-breeds of the territories would be similar to those made in Manitoba. No treaty has ever been made with us. We never transferred our rights, and before they are taken from us we wish to have a treaty made and we think we have the right to expect that the conditions of that treaty will be similar to the one made with the settled half-breeds in Manitoba. No, my friend, this is not rebellion. We simply defend ourselves. We don't belong to the Hudson Bay company. The Indians who took the treaty sold what interest they had in the country.

THEY OWN THE SOIL.

"The half-breeds of the territories are the owners of the soil they occupy. They have no interests in the country which they have never parted with. They desire to have an equitable arrangement made for their interests. They defend themselves."

RIEL'S FIRST REBELLION.

In reply to a question as to what he would answer if charged with treason, Riel rambled off to his former rebellion. He would advance the former treaty made by the government with him; also his being recognized as governor of Manitoba for two months. He had not at this time rebelled against the government. Also, he was a citizen of the United States and so could not be traitor to Canada. When asked why he went to the States, he said at the solicitation of Archbishop Taché. He continued:

"I knew that the government was between a cross fire from the opposition and my sympathizers. I told the archbishop that there seemed to be something wrong in asking me to go, but I would leave the consequences with him. He said a friend or friends would give me £200. I replied I would not take money in that way, but if the government would pay me for my services while governor and while serving against the Fenians, and give me something for damages, I would. After awhile assurance was given me and I went to St. Paul and stayed there some months. When the elections came on the archbishop sent for me. I came back. I was returned for the province three times and as often turned out of the house and declared an outlaw, and then went to the states, to which I was banished five years."

"How much money did the government give you?"

"The gave me £800 and my wife £200."

THE REVISED BIBLE.

Shoel to Disappear—Literal Fire and Brimstone—The Place of the Dead.

The most important change in the revised bible seems to be the dropping of the word "hell." In the poetic books this is translated "sheol," while in the prose language it becomes "the grave" and "the pit." It is necessary to make this alteration, we are told in the preface, because the general corruption of the word as a place of torment is a mistaken one, and its retention would lead to a misinterpretation of the passages where it is employed. "Hell" in the Bible, it would seem, does not mean "hell" in the common acceptance of the word as a place of punishment. The mediæval idea of post mortem penalties has been gradually undergoing revision. The hell of our boyhood was a place of literal fire and brimstone; the hell of the mass of Christian people to-day is a place of punishment rather of a negative than of a positive character, and it seems as though it might possibly be that hell shall disappear after a time and nothing be left but "sheol"—the place of the dead. If we are to judge by the history of the revised New Testament, it is fair to conclude that the revised Bible as a whole will never be a popular book. As a help to biblical students, and as a work of reference, it will be largely employed to correct false impressions arising out of some of the erroneous translations of the old version; but the latter, endeared to the hearts of Christian people for centuries past, will remain the book of the masses for many a year to come.

Consols; What are They?

A correspondent in writing a contemporary for information as to what are consols, says: "Under the excitement of the war complications which are liable to take place at any time between England and Russia, I see that consols go up and down daily, and are relied upon in their fluctuations to show what the probabilities are for conflict." The word "consol" is an abbreviation of consolidated annuities, which constitute the larger portion of the federal debt of Great Britain. They had their origin in 1751. In the progress of the national debt it has been deemed expedient to borrow money at a fixed rate of interest, usually 3 or 3½ per cent, and as the market required to give the lender an advantage in the principal funded. In times of peace, when the rate of money has enabled portions of the debt at a higher interest to be commuted into stock of lower interest, the conversion has always been into consols. Temporary deposits of the revenue have been covered by an issuance of consols. Exchequer bills have taken the same form when funded. Many loans of the government have been wholly raised by issuing consols. The consequence has been to give this stock a pre-eminence in the amount of the funded debt.

On account of its being so greatly in excess of all other stock, of its great convenience to dealers and the great number and variety of its holders, it is believed to express with the greatest nicety the state of monetary affairs. The price of consols, however, does not in ordinary times vary much. It has a tendency indeed to rise when all the securities are most shaken. In periods of war, panic, extreme pressure for money, it has gone down for a few days between 80 and 90, but it usually stands between 95 and 97. Occasionally it goes to par. So, in speculating upon the probabilities of trouble between England and any foreign power, if you see that consols fall in price as low as 80, be sure that hostilities are imminent.

Death of a Prominent Wholesale Merchant.

A New York dispatch of the 3rd announces the death of Daniel T. Murphy, senior member of the San Francisco and Portland dry goods house of Murphy, Grant & Co., at the Windsor Hotel in that city, aged 55 years. He arrived there last Saturday, and was immediately prostrated with Bright's disease. For some time past Mr. Murphy had complained of ill-health. He had great faith in the water of Lourdes, and believed that if he could only have reached there his life would be prolonged. Against the wishes of his family physician, Dr. G. Chesmore, and his friends, Mr. Murphy expressed the determination of visiting Lourdes. He cabled to his family in Europe of his intention, and they came half way to meet him, arriving in the city last Sunday. Mr. Murphy was accompanied by Dr. Chesmore, Archbishop Alemany and Joseph A. Donohue and family. He had to be carried into the hotel, and remained in bed until last night about nine o'clock, when he expired. He leaves a widow and three sons and four daughters. One of the daughters married Sir Charles Wolesley, in England, a few years ago. The remains will be taken to San Francisco for interment to-day.

Will Go to Kansas.

Mr. W. B. Willey submitted to an interview by a Tacoma reporter, and said in the event of acquittal, he proposed removing to his old home in Kansas, where he had been offered a position in a bank. He said that he was as poor as the poorest of those who had suffered by the bank's collapse, and promised if fortune ever smiles upon him to make good his share of the losses. Mr. Willey's family is in Victoria, to whom he will return after the cruel war is over, close out business and then betake himself to the hog-raising state and begin again the battle of life.

Knight of the Road.

Last Monday evening the stage between Olympia and Montesano was stopped by two masked robbers, and Wells Fargo's treasure box taken. Four men have been arrested on suspicion, one being the stage driver.

Baldness may be avoided by the use of Hall's Hair Renewer, which prevents the falling out of the hair, and stimulates it to renewed growth and luxuriance. It also restores faded or gray hair to its original dark color, and radically cures nearly every disease of the scalp.

Backache, stitches in the side, inflation and soreness of the bowels, are symptoms of a disordered state of the digestive organs, which can be promptly and thoroughly corrected by the use of Ayer's Cathartic Pills. As dinner pills, and as aids to digestion, they have no equal. They cure constipation.

THE WIDE WORLD.

THIS DAY'S DESPATCHES

Destructive Indian Earthquake.

Special to THE TIMES.

LONDON, June 5.—Official dispatches from Serinagur gives the number of killed and wounded by the earthquake there last Sunday and Monday as follows: Killed, 87; wounded, 100. Official reports have not been received yet from other points in Vale of Cashmere, affected by earthquake shocks. Until these come to hand the full extent of the calamity cannot be known. Unofficial reports, however, are of such an alarming character as to make it more than likely that the earthquake proves be even more disastrous in its effect than the first dispatches stated. Whole cities and towns in the Vale are spoken of as destroyed. Absence of definite news is attributed to the demolition of the telegraph lines. In the general wreck and chaos in consequence of the magnitude of the calamity, the number of the killed and wounded is left for imagination.

Sir Peter Lumsden in London.

Special to THE TIMES.

VIENNA, June 5. Yesterday Sir Peter Lumsden arrived here and proceeded on his journey to London. On being interviewed he said Col. Alikhanoff had openly boasted to the Afghans that Russia would take Herat and a great deal more. Sir Peter said Russia would never have urged her absurd demands if she had believed England was in earnest in resisting them.

The Proposed Duties on Wine Spirits and Beer.

LONDON, June 4.—The House of Commons, which adjourned over the Whitsuntide holidays, resumed its sessions today. Childers, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in reply to a question by Sir Michael Hicks Beach, Conservative, said he hoped to be able by to-morrow to make a statement to the house concerning the attitude of the government upon the question of an increase of the duties which it had been proposed to place upon wines, spirits and beer.

Diplomatic Relations with the Vatican.

LONDON, June 4.—Mr. Gladstone replying to an inquiry made by McCoon, Home Ruler, member for Wicklow, said it was the intention of the Government to establish regular diplomatic relations with the Vatican.

Bimetalism being Considered.

BERLIN, June 4.—Prince Bismarck has written a letter to the Thurengan Farmers' Association, saying that the question of bimetalism is being considered by the government officials.

California Gets the Registrarship of the Treasury.

WASHINGTON, June 4. The President this afternoon appointed General Wm. S. Rosecrans, of California, to be register of treasury; vice B. K. Bruce, resigned.

The British-Russian-Afghan Boundary.

LONDON, June 3.—A Sinjon dispatch says a meeting of the British-Russian-Afghan boundary commission is expected to take place, when will be begun the consideration of the question involving a delineation of the Afghan boundary.

England and Russia Agree to Arbitration.

Special to THE TIMES.

LONDON, June 5.—Mr. Gladstone stated in the House of Commons this afternoon that Russia and England had come to an agreement concerning the points of difference between them, which were to be referred to arbitration. He also stated that the governments of the two countries have likewise agreed upon arbitration, but as the person chosen for arbitration has not yet been formally asked to accept the position he was unable to say more on the subject.

The Afghan Frontier.

LONDON, June 4.—In answer to interrogatories by Lord John Manners, Mr. Gladstone stated that the negotiations between England and Russia, concerning the delimitation of the Afghan frontier, remained unconcluded. In regard to the question of submitting the Anglo-Russian dispute to arbitration, Mr. Gladstone announced that he would answer the interrogatories to-morrow.

The Guards at Alexandria.

Special to THE TIMES.

LONDON, June 5.—The Marquis of Hartington, war minister, in answer to inquiries, said the government hoped it would be unnecessary to detain the guards at Alexandria much longer, but that it was impossible at present to fix a date for their departure.

Germany and Zanzibar.

BERLIN, June 3.—The North German Gazette in a leading article on the present dispute between Germany and Zanzibar says Germany has no designs against the independence of the Sultan of Zanzibar. Germany, the Gazette continues, "sought to secure a treaty with him, and merely endeavored in common with other powers, under decisions of the Berlin conference, to obtain facilities for trade through the Sultan's coast territory, with no intention of using force to procure a treaty. The Sultan, however, claims the territory occupied by the German East Afghan company, which secured its titles properly from native chiefs and has ordered troops to enter, and has taken hostile measures against the Sultan, who has been a friend to Germany since 1867." Hinting that the Sultan of Zanzibar may be presuming upon British protection, the Gazette expresses the hope that the English will induce him to desist from his present policy of provocation to Germany.

The Duty on Spirits a Loss of $1,500,000 a Year.

Special to THE TIMES.

LONDON, June 5.—Hon. Mr. Childers, Chancellor of the Exchequer, announced in the House this afternoon that the extra duty on spirits had been fixed at one shilling per gallon. This was a reduction, he said, which would involve a loss to the public revenue of one million five hundred thousand per annum. Additional duty on beer, the Chancellor said, would be retained until May 13, 1886. No changes in the budget would be made.

The Oaks Stakes Won by Lonely.

LONDON, June 5.—The race for the Oaks stakes at Epsom to-day was won by Lord Cadogan's bay filly Lonely. The winner was ridden by Fred Archer, who rode the winning horse in the Derby stakes on Wednesday. Lord Zetland's bay filly St. Helena was second, and Sir J. Willoughby's chestnut filly Cipollina third.

Earl Spencer and the Cabinet.

Special to THE TIMES.

LONDON, June 5.—Earl Spencer has arrived here and will attend cabinet council to-day.

The Cholera Increasing.

Special to THE TIMES.

MADRID, June 5.—The cholera is increasing at Valencia; forty-five per cent of those attacked die.

Increase in Business Failures.

Special to THE TIMES.

NEW YORK, June 5.—The business failures for the last seven days were 223 as compared with 206 of last week.

The Whipping Post a Certain Cure.

Special to THE TIMES.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—At the second day's meeting of the Conference of Charities and Corrections reports read from several Southern states noted quite a general reduction in the system of hiring convicts and the adoption of measures which had a tendency to mitigate the evils of the system. The report from Delaware noted the mitigation of the severity of the whipping system. Blood was rarely drawn. At present the whipping post was in general favor with the people of Delaware for the punishment of petty offenses. It was rarely found necessary to administer a second whipping to the same offender.

New Street Lines.

The property owners on North Park street are up in arms against the City Surveyor, or the City Council, under whose instructions it is presumed the official acts. It appears that a short time ago, several parties, about to erect new buildings, asked for the street lines and were given a new boundary some three or four feet further south than what has been recognized for twenty years as the true street limits. Already on the north of the street, several fences have been built to the new line, and on the corner of Quadra and Park a new building has been removed to the new lines. The result will be to cut off that number of feet from the front of every lot on the south side. In one instance the steps and porch of a dwelling will have to be cut away, and in almost every case the little flower plots and lawns in front of the residences will either be considerably curtailed or be wiped out altogether. On the north side of the street an equal quantity of land will be taken from the street and added to the several properties there. The effect on the shade trees, of which there are a great many growing on both sides and in private grounds, will be an extremely unfortunate one, as they will all be out of position. The residents will resist the encroachment and are banding together to fight it in the courts if such an extreme is required. They say that for many years past, the present street lines have been recognised as correct, and whenever the council has been applied to, the boundaries as they now exist were supplied, or deemed. They do not consider that it is just that their properties should be thus damaged by the corporation without adequate compensation being made, and all reasonable persons will agree with them.

Cariboo Country.

Messrs. Thos. Moffat and R. Davis left Soda Creek to prospect a stream lying between Little Lake and Horse-fly Creek, where they obtained fair gold prospects some time ago.

Messrs. Coyes and Hilton have proceeded to prospect the country between Clearwater and South Fork Lake, a portion of the province where nothing of that kind has been done. Alexander Indians report having found good prospects of gold in the country lying between Alexander and the Forks of Quesnelle. They say that they will not allow any white men to go there. There is not much stock taken in the report, as it is well known that Indian information on this subject is not at all times reliable.

The owners of the rich paying claim on Harvey Creek have ceased taking out the metal for the present, on account of high water.

The Nason Co., on Cunningham Creek, have ceased operations till after high water, when they will again commence work and expect to prove the ground in two months.

GENERAL NEWS.

The specials from Washington Territory and Oregon point to a gain of 4,000,000 bushels as compared with last year, and there is now no known reason for believing that the total spring and Pacific coast wheat crops will fall much, if any, behind 1884.

About $300,000 was paid out of the treasury yesterday for pensions, making a total during this month of about $10,000,000.

F. X. Lemieux, M. P., and Charles Kirkpatrick, says a Montreal dispatch, in defending Riel, will have Hon. M. Mercier as counsel. They will insist that their client be tried by a jury of his countrymen, as a commission appointed by the government cannot be impartial. It is stated that Dr. Fiset has organized the defence, and will arrange for the expenses.

MARINE NOTES.

Two barks, passing outward were beating down the sound this forenoon.

The Umatilla made a trial trip from Esquimalt to the outer wharf this morning, where she now lies.

St. Barnard Castle passed up this morning at 6 o'clock to Departure Bay, six days from San Francisco.

The ship Twin Brothers was the first ocean going sail to haul in alongside the new Columbia wharf at Seattle.

Eight sail vessels took coal cargoes from the Sound during the month of May four of which coaled at Tacoma, carrying 9500 tons.

A strong southwest wind has prevailed during the last four or five days in the straits. This is something unusual at this time of the year.

The Emma with two barges of railroad ties for Esquimalt, was forced to put back to Victoria harbor in consequence of the high winds prevailing.

The Olympian arrived about 11 a. m., and departed at 2 p. m. The repairs on her bulwarks are nearly completed. The damage to both wharf and boat was much less than at first reported.

DISGRACEFUL PROCEEDINGS.

Our report of the personal altercation between MESSRS. BRADEN, HAYWARD and FELL, on the School Board last evening is purposely condensed—the more offensive personalities being omitted. It was not a very creditable scene, and a full report would only help to bring the Board still further into contempt. A "question of privilege"—contrary to all parliamentary rules,—was made a pretext for a bitter personal attack, into which matter totally irrelevant to the article complained of, was imported. Why all this noise—this mighty tempest in a little teapot? Mr. FELL attacks the School Bill at a meeting of the board. His remarks may have been justified, or they may not; but he was clearly within his right, as a trustee, in speaking on such a subject at a trustee meeting. The Colonist of the next morning singles MR. FELL out for a bitter personal attack, and to this MR. FELL replies by a letter in THE TIMES. Another editorial, more bitterly sarcastic and more aggravating and insulting than the former, again appears, and MR. FELL again replies, and in the same strain. Had he not answered the Colonist articles, he would have been set down as a coward, and having answered them, and given that mud-thrower a Roland for his Oliver, he is made the subject of a most bitter personal attack. We are not defending MR. FELL in any mistake that he may have made as a private citizen, or even attempting to palliate the expression of views that are distasteful to the religious portion of the community. For these faults, if he is guilty of them, MR. FELL should be called to account at the proper time and in a proper manner. But two wrongs do not make one right, and a meeting of a board of trustees is not the place for a bear-dance, or the ventilation of private malice, or political spite. In the war of words, that put to shame the exploits of O'Connell and the fishwife of Billingsgate, MR. FELL took the more dignified position, and refused to discuss matters that were altogether foreign to the business of the meeting. The attack was preconcerted. The Colonist and MR. HAYWARD concocted it for political effect, and MR. BRADEN was weak enough to be made a cats-paw of. The chairman failed to assert his authority until his own ideas of the parliamentary proprieties were shocked, and then he politely asked MR. HAYWARD to cease from further vituperation. The whole proceedings, we repeat, were disgraceful in the extreme, and calculated to lower the two gentlemen participating in the estimation of the community, and still further, prove their unfitness as guardians of our educational institutions.

THE BOSS SHEPHERD RIEL.

General Middleton preserves a very close watch upon Louis Riel against the eager newspaper interviewer on the ground that anything the captive might say could be used either for or against him on his trial. Riel himself, it is said, objects to being interviewed, which is the stranger in that he dearly loved newspaper notoriety, was a "constant reader," and often refers to the influence of the press. Young's charge of Riel is one of the ironies of fate, as he (then a boy) and his father, who is a Methodist clergyman, were Riel's prisoners in Fort Garry in 1870. Among the books found in the council house and belonging to Louis Riel was a large volume half filled with a closely written exposition (in France) of his religious views. Most of it is awful rot, and teems with wonderful accounts of miraculous visions (he out-Brigham's Brigham in his nocturnal supernaturalisms), and involved explanations of events, beliefs and admonitions. As clearly as can be made out, RIEL believes in a universal Catholic church, but not in what he calls the pagan papal church. He retains belief in the virgin and the saints, and as I wrote previously, retains many of the doctrines of the Romish church. He changed the names of the days of the week because they were taken from heathen religious nomenclature, and were a constant offense to his spiritual senses. His great aim, he avers, was to bring the Metis, his people, out from their adherence to the Church of Rome and into a fold of universal Catholicity in which he would be Boss Shepherd.

SEABOARD DEFENCES.

The security of the American Atlantic seaboard cities as well as those of the continent of Europe against destruction in time of war by an invading fleet has caured much concern for years past on both sides of the Atlantic. A few weeks since LIEUT. GRIFFIN, a naval officer, read a paper before the United States Military Institution, the theme of which was the ease with which New York could be destroyed. After the second war with Great Britain, the Lieutenant said, the American government took up the defence of its sea coasts, harbors, interior navigation and naval stations. The works constructed for this purpose were mainly of masonry, and guns equal to any attacking force of the time were mounted in them; the works were given only a slight command, and land fronts were added to enable the occupants to stand a siege of from ten to fifteen days. The latest and strongest of the granite forts had eight-feet walls and a greater degree of security was reached in them than by any other nation through the use of iron casemates.

The Lieutenant then called attention to the model of a ten-inch shell, weighing 101 pounds, the most powerful in use previous to 1861, and pointed in contrast to a huge conical shell, some four feet high, which stood beside the other and dwarfed it. The immense projectile was a model of the modern toy fired from a 100 ton gun, weighs 2000 pounds, and leaves a gun with a projectile force of 50,000 foot-tons. The Crimean war, with the batteries used by the French, brought doubts of the utility of masonry casemates. The third system of American coast defences was doomed in the war of 1861-'65.

Following up the subject of the increase developed in the power of projectiles and the strength of armament, the speaker called attention to the recent British ships carrying eighteen inches of solid steel armor to heavy ordnance of corresponding weight and power, and to Krupp guns which penetrate 29.2 inches of iron at 2000 yards. Important improvements had been made in powder, the grains being smaller and denser, the cocoa powder being an especially destructive force. Each round from a 100-ton gun costs $300, with cast iron projectiles, while with steel the cost was nearly $1000. Forged steel was the best projectile. Recent experiments had shown that dynamite or nitro-gelatine could be fired by an ordinary powder charge. The so-called dynamite guns, in which dynamite was fired by compressed air, were limited in use, as the gun was of great length and must be fired at a high angle. The number of ironclads has greatly increased. England had four in 1861, 56 now; France six then and 48 now. Soon after the American civil war efforts were made by the American government to adapt its sea-coast forts to the new state of affairs. Iron embrasure shields, which were tried, proved a failure internally and externally. Recent experiments had shown that an 80-ton projectile would penetrate twenty five feet of solid masonry, while 70 feet of sand were necessary to stop a projectile. In 1868 America's finances did not admit of a large outlay, her armament was then mostly smoothbores. Batteries were begun, but appropriations fell to $175,000 in 1875, and since then not a cent had been spent to improve the defences, and the $175,000 for their preservation had only left them in a worse condition now than they were ten years ago. America now had 150 eight-inch rifles, made over from old ten-inch smoothbores, 510 ten-inch smoothbores, a few Parrot and Rodman guns, and one twelve-inch mortar for our protection. A modern ironclad could lie at a safe distance and destroy the works by piecemeal and dismount the guns. Congress had so far made no effort to protect seacoast defences.

American torpedo defences, in the opinion of Lieut. GRIFFIN, although equal to any in the world, were of little value without land defences, as a single ship could be sacrificed to open the way for any number at any time. The old seacoast defences, long out of date, the old casements, with gun batteries without guns and mortar batteries without mortars, were but a feeble defence. There was not a harbor on the coast that could not be captured by an ironclad fleet, and there was not a seacoast power in the world which did not possess such a fleet. Modern naval armament was expensive, but the modern system of war imposed the expense on the vanquished power. Should America be involved in war with Spain or Holland, their armored ships would at once be sent out for her coast.

The terror which would follow would only be paralleled by that following the appearance of the Merrimac; 58 hours would bring a fleet from Bermuda and 34 from Halifax. A hostile fleet in the bay would have $3,500,000,000 worth of property in range, and the havoc which would follow could be judged from that produced by a few pounds of dynamite in England.

New York would be doomed; witness the bombardment of Paris and Alexandria. Protection, the speaker urged, meant protection against war itself; foreign powers, in case of diplomatic complications with America, would feel no restraint in her present defenceless condition. She should have a navy for aggressive warfare. If prompt action were taken now it would be three years before she could get Krupp or Armstrong guns, and then time would be needed for mounting them. Extemporized fortifications were a delusion. Everything pointed to the need of immediate action.

THE Spanish government has prohibited the inoculation of people with cholera virus pending a decision of the board of health.

A queer story that, which is told by the staff correspondent of the St. Paul Pioneer Press, to the effect that the Batoche charge was made against the orders of General MIDDLETON. The correspondent says it was tacitly agreed among the field officers that they would charge on the first opportunity, "no matter what the orders to the contrary from the General commanding might be." This approaches the border line of mutiny.

HENRY WARD BEECHER, in a sermon on "Evolution," said he saw no bridge between the human race and the animal kingdom in their origin. Man had gradually grown up from barbaric conditions. Man appeared on earth ages before those given in Christian history. The first people to gain any knowledge of God was the Hebrew race. God gave no instructions to man originally, but left him to find out everything for himself. His only revealtion was after man had gained some idea of moral quality.

As TO German operations in the Zanzibar territory, it is reported that Lord Rosebery's visit to BISMARCK at Berlin, was for the express purpose of arranging with him for English support of German colonization schemes in that quarter and elsewhere, the reciprocal favor being Germany's recognition of a pronounced English protectorate over Egypt, which, in fact, practically exists to-day. The German chancellor, it is reported, induced the Khedival government to refund the 5 per cent tax on Egyptian coupons. He favors the reinstatement of ex Khedive ISMAIL at Cairo. ISMAIL's former career as Khedive was a very brilliant one, but a very expensive one to English money lenders, as the financiers who have been investing since the deposition of ISMAIL with the privileged debt of £22,587,000 and the unified debt of £57,776,000 well know.

DYSPEPSIA.

Sedentary habits, mental worry, nervous excitement, excess or imprudence in eating or drinking, and various other causes, induce Constipation followed by general derangement of the liver, kidneys, and stomach, in which the disorder of each organ increases the infirmity of the others.

The immediate results are Loss of Appetite, Nausea, Foul Breath, Heartburn, Flatulence, Dizziness, Sick Headaches, failure of physical and mental vigor, distressing sense of weight and fullness in the stomach, and increased Costiveness, all of which are known under one head as Dyspepsia.

In every instance where this disease does not originate from scrofulous taint in the blood, AYER'S PILLS may be confidently relied upon to effect a cure. Those cases not amenable to the curative influence of AYER'S PILLS alone will certainly yield if the PILLS are aided by the powerful blood-purifying properties of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA.

Dyspeptics should know that the longer treatment of their malady is postponed, the more difficult of cure it becomes.

Ayer's Pills

Never fail to relieve the bowels and promote their healthful and regular action, and thus cure Dyspepsia. Temporary palliatives all do permanent harm. The fitful activity into which the enfeebled stomach is spurred by "bitters," and alcoholic stimulants, is inevitably followed by reaction that leaves the organ weaker than before.

"Costiveness, induced by my sedentary habits of life, became chronic; AYER'S PILLS afforded me speedy relief. Their occasional use has since kept me all right." HERMANN BRINGMANN, Newark, N. J.

"I was induced to try AYER'S PILLS as a remedy for Indigestion, Constipation, and Headache, from which I had long been a sufferer. I found their action easy, and obtained prompt relief. They have benefited me more than all the medicines ever before tried." M. V. WATSON, 152 State St., Chicago, Ill.

"They have entirely corrected the costive habit, and vastly improved my general health." REV. FRANCIS B. HARLOWE, Atlanta, Ga.

"The most effective and the easiest physic I have ever found. One dose will quickly move my bowels and free my head from pain." W. I. PAGE, Richmond, Va.

"A sufferer from Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, and Neuralgia for the last twenty years, AYER'S PILLS have benefited me more than any medicine I have ever taken." P. R. ROGERS, Needmore, Brown Co., Ind.

FARM AND GARDEN

The Chickens.

There is certainly one branch of profit to the farmer which has not yet been worked to its full extent. That is poultry raising. Neither for home nor for market are his resources what they might be. Eggs are one of the best articles of food known to man; yet in the cold weather if the good farmwife gets eggs enough to make her Christmas cake she considers herself fortunate. During the late winter and spring country people ought to have fresh eggs at least every other day for breakfast, yet some families do not see them twice a month. A little care—that is to say, considerable care and industry—would give the farmer a delicious roast of poultry for his Sunday dinner all his life, yet with this at their command many agriculturists sit down to salt pork and dyspepsia three times a day the year around. They ought to be ashamed of themselves.

The farmer who is a slouch in other respects will be a slouch in the chicken business. He will be an old hunks through and through, like him with whom a contemporary agricultural writer conversed not long since. The talk was a real one. Read it. There may or may not be occasion then to say: "Put that in your pipe and smoke it."

"Chickens don't pay nohow," said the old hunks. "Every dozen eggs I sell at eighteen cents costs a quarter."

"What breed do you keep?" asked the writer. He, the writer, was a person who was seeking information from a practical farmer.

The O. H. answered:

"Oh, I don't pay any attention to breeds; some of them were on the place when I bought it, and we get a new rooster every year or two."

"Kind of a mixed lot," said I. "What do you feed them?"

"Lord!" he replied, "I don't go to the trouble of feeding them when they have the run of the farm."

"Got a good hen house, I suppose?" was my next venture.

"Ain't got any; part of them roosts in the old log stable and part of 'em are so derned contrary they roost out in the orchard."

"I suppose you sell off your old hens every year?"

He gave a little laugh. "No, I don't; fact is, I never have any to sell; the owls and hawks and skunks and other varmints have to have their share, and it's up and tuck to keep the old stock good. Chickens are a blasted nuisance whichever way you take them."

Somebody else than the chickens was "contrary" in this case. But if you are not one of the "old hunks" kind you can certainly make poultry raising a source of profit, health and pleasure, all three.

It is an occupation that requires far more brains than physical strength. Is that the reason so many people fail in it? But add the brains, and it is a side branch of income that is by no means to be despised. Except building the hen houses, women, children and cripples can attend to it.

Begin now to look after this source of income if you have not done so before. Treat your fowls decently, and they will pay you.

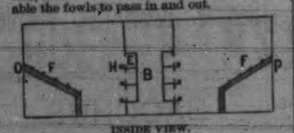
FRONT VIEW OF POULTRY HOUSE.

Build the chicken house facing to the south or southeast. Have long windows, as in the picture. Cover them with wire grating, so that they can be slid along a groove and thrown wide open in summer. Fowls suffer much for want of light and ventilation. The roof of the house is 7 feet high in front, and slopes to within a foot and a half of the ground at the rear. Plums and other fruit trees are planted in the chicken yard. The fowls destroy the worms. A board or two is nailed on the outside of the door-posts each side, and in these boards holes are cut to enable the fowls to pass in and out.



INSIDE VIEW.

As will be seen, this house has a hall in it, with door in the middle. The hall is slatted off completely from the room each side where the fowls live. Slat doors lead from it into the fowls' apartments. In this hall the feed for them is kept. The hall is marked B. The nest boxes are shown at E. These nests can be reached by the hand from the middle passage, so that the eggs can be got without going among the fowls. In front of the nest boxes is a slatting marked H. F F each side is a slanting frame, with strips nailed across for roosts. The front roosts are higher than those in the back.

POULTRY HOUSE AND YARDS.

We have here a rather more pretentious dwelling for the chicks. It is arranged in apartments for different breeds. Each apartment is 8x12 feet, and opens in the rear into its own slatted yard planted with plum trees. A pointed paling fence should completely inclose the chicken yard. One eight feet high will be sufficient to keep the wildest Leghorns, Hamburgs and game breeds in. A single length of lath is enough for Plymouth Rocks.

If you want eggs in winter, the hen house must be warmed by artificial heat. Dig a pit four feet deep to hold a small stove. It will be three steps down. Cover the hole. Make the pipe of common glazed tiling, and let it run along just below the top of the ground through the house till it runs up and passes out. Cover it along the ground with a foot of dry sand. An arched-over brick stove above ground, with pieces of sheet iron built inside to increase the draft and add to the heating surface, will be still better. It is made with a hole for the stovepipe, which passes straight up and out.

EARLY CHICKENS.

Experienced persons have already set their hens weeks ago—in February. Broiled spring chickens bring 75 cents apiece in the restaurants. But they cannot be produced without warmth and care to hen and eggs. It is not too late now to set hens. Where you have not a good hen house, with stove or furnace for winter, build the nests in this way: Put horse manure in the bottom. Over that throw some clean, dry earth. Then upon that make a nest of cut hay, not using more than enough to keep the nest in shape and the eggs clean. Do not let a setting hen go prospecting off leg-deep in the snow for food and drink. Have both handy near her, and see that the water does not freeze or get ice cold. Do not set so many eggs in cold weather as in warm. Nine eggs in February and 11 in March are said to be as many as a hen can properly warm. Hay lets the cold through to the eggs; therefore, make the bottom of the nest as directed.

Early chickens are by far the best for breeding purposes, too. The first pullets and cockerels will be vigorous, seasoned and thoroughly developed fowls for next fall and winter.

FOOD.

Don't forget that your chicks must have some green food by the time they are two weeks old. If they come before the grass grows, then have some oats planted in a box in the kitchen window, or in a corner of your hotbed ready for them.

As far as the hens and older fowls are concerned, one of the best foods for them is wheat. Corn diet is too heating. Save the screenings and poor quality of wheat for your poultry. Do it next year if you have not done so this. Give the chickens a good feed in the morning of this: Middlings, wheat bran, meal or barley, not always the same, but mixed differently from time to time to give variety. The small, imperfect vegetables should be cooked and given to them from time to time. Throw them a cabbage once in a while, and stand and watch the fun," says Mr. I. K. Felch. Be sure they have plenty of pure water, winter and summer. Warm it for them in zero weather. It will pay. Give them fresh meat scraps once or twice a week. They are fond of milk and it is excellent for them. Season their food occasionally with cayenne pepper, not too much. Give them hay chopped fine, too. Don't forget that all living creatures need variety of food, chickens among them. Keep ground oyster shells or old plaster and lime for them to help themselves to.

CLEANLINESS.

It is very nasty to let your hen houses go from year to year without cleaning. It makes lice, gapes and heaven knows what not among your poultry. Clean the hen house floor every little while, and put the scrapings and droppings around your fruit trees. Whitewash everything that can be whitewashed, and keep it so. Have a large box of sand or ashes for the fowls to wallow in.

With warmth, cleanliness, proper and abundant food, and judicious breeding and care, the farmwife can get enough profit from her poultry-yard in winter to pay her grocery bills, if they are not too large. This is certain. Try it and see another year.

Cabbages.

For the earliest kinds, Early Wakefield and Early York are undoubtedly the best. The best way to get them in perfection is to sow the seed the middle of September and winter the plants over. If you did not do that, however, sow the seed now at once, in a temperate hotbed. When the plants are six inches high transplant them to a cold frame, or in the open ground if the frost is out. When set out in the earth for final growing put the plants for early varieties about eighteen inches apart in the row, the rows three feet apart.

For late cabbage, sow the seed in a bed of rich soil, in the open air, as soon as frost has disappeared. In about two months they will be ready to set out. Plant the large, strong-growing late cabbages three feet apart. The cabbage needs, more than almost any other vegetable, a rich, loamy soil. Well-rotted stable manure is the best fertilizer for it. Both it and the soil in which the plant is to be set must be finely pulverized. Mix the manure and the soil well together in the hill with the hoe. For late cabbage sow the Late Flat Dutch or the Curled Savoy. Since raw cabbage is becoming fashionable as a remedy for dyspepsia, doubtless this unetherealvegetable will be more popular than ever. The largest head of all—the boss cabbage, so to speak—is the Winter Marblehead Mammoth. The heads occasionally weigh 40 pounds, it is said

FASHIONLETS.

Sashes are important items in children's dresses.

Corsage bouquets of yellow flowers are fashionable.

Easter cards and Easter boxes are already in the shop windows.

When a dress is said to be made of bengaline, it means that it is of Irish poplin.

Chemises are going out of fashion, the corset cover and short petticoat taking their place.

Jersey silk corset covers come in light shades of color, and are finished with a frill of lace around the neck and armholes.

Even jerseys have vests to them now. They are of contrasting color to the jacket, which, however, they are braided to match.

The rage for woolen fabrics for dressy frocks and evening toilets, as well as street suits, has had the effect of lowering the price of silks everywhere.

The colors in new silk gloves range from dark to pale shades of modes, tan, russet and nut brown, from filbert and hazel to chestnut, golden brown, grays from slate to pale Russian, and many intermediate tints of gray, blue, amber and mastic.

Corset covers are the most elaborate articles of women's underwear, being one mass of insertion, tucks and lace or embroidery. They have Pompadour, square, round or pointed necks, sometimes high as the throat, and are tied around the short sleeves and necks with bright pink, blue or red ribbon.

Girlish and pretty toilets are made of shot or Pompadour silk, with bouffant overdress of tulle matched to one of the shades of the changeable silk, or to the color of the gay figures in the floral-patterned fabric. Velvet bretelles of the same shade are worn over the shoulders, and at the side is fastened a moucheir pouch of similar rich material.

An exquisite tea gown of London origin is of dark heliotrope plush, opening over a point extending from the throat to the feet, of pale blue China crepe, forming a plastron and long, mucn-gathered tablier. The revers of the robe are lined with satin duchesse of the same sky-blue tint. The ribbons forming the decorative parts of the gown are of heliotrope velvet, backed with pale blue satin. Heliotrope flowers form the corsage bouquet.

Already Tucked.

A novelty for summer use, which will be of great service both to dressmakers and ladies who make their own dresses, is the introduction of white skirting and dress fabrics already tucked, the tucking ranging in width from the merest hair lines suitable for lingerie and underclothing to the very broad styles adapted to the formation of the full housemaid skirt and blouse waist. There is also cluster tucking, with handsome insertion between, in "all-over" goods, pretty for dressing sacques, wrappers, night-dresses and the like. Some of these materials are exquisitely fine in texture, and the price by the yard is not as expensive as one might imagine. The less elaborate styles are within the reach of a very moderate purse.

Bennett's Ice Machine.

James Gordon Bennett's yacht Namouna has been provided with a dense air machine, which is able to produce 1,000 pounds of ice per day. Yet it is so compact that it occupies a space only seven feet long, four wide, and four high

"After two months I was given up to die! ! !

"When my wife heard a neighbor tell what Hop Bitters had done for her, she at once got and gave me some. The first dose eased my brain and seemed to go hunting through my system for the pain.

"The second dose eased me so much that I slept two hours, something I had not done for two months. Before I had used five bottles I was well and at work as hard as any man could, for over three weeks; but I worked too hard for my strength, and taking a hard cold, I was taken with the most acute and painful rheumatism all through my system that ever was known.

"I called the doctors again, and after several weeks they left me a cripple on crutches for life, as they said. I met a friend and told him my case and he said Hop Bitters had cured him and would cure me. I doubted at him, but he was so earnest I was induced to use them again.

In less than four weeks I threw away my crutches and went to work lightly and kept on using the Bitters for five weeks, until I became as well as any man living, and have been so for six years since.

It has also cured my wife, who had been sick for years, and has kept her and my children well and healthy with from two to three bottles per year. There is no need to be sick at all if these Bitters are used. J. J. BERR,

THE BEST ROUTE AND SHORT LINE BETWEEN Omaha, Council Bluffs & Chicago.

The only line to take for Des Moines, Marshalltown, Cedar Rapids, Clinton, Dixon, Chicago, Milwaukee, and all points East. To the people of Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Idaho, Nevada, Oregon, Washington and California, it offers superior advantages not possible by any other line.

Among a few of the numerous points of superiority enjoyed by the patrons of this road between Omaha and Chicago, are its two trains a day of DAY COACHES, which are the finest that human art and ingenuity can create; its PALACE SLEEPING CARS, which are models of comfort and elegance; its PARLOR DRAWING ROOM CARS, unsurpassed by any and its widely celebrated PALATIAL DINING CARS, the equal of which cannot be found elsewhere.

At Council Bluffs the trains of the Union Pacific Ry. connect in Union Depot with those of the Chicago & Northwestern Ry. In Chicago the trains of this line make close connection with those of all Eastern lines.

Travellers have a choice of routes. Passengers arrive in and depart from the Union Depot, thus avoiding the expense of transferring baggage. The several routes to Chicago Milwaukee and all points are

The famous Albert Lea Route.
The great Rock Island Line.
The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul.
The Chicago and Northwestern.
The Royal Route.

The distance from St. Paul to Chicago is about 450 miles. The trip is made in 15 hours. Trains leave each city in the morning, mid-day and evening.

"NIAGARA FALL ROUTE."

Is the Name by which

The Michigan Central R. R.

Is universally known because (1) it is the only line out of Chicago running its trains via the Niagra Falls, giving passengers a full view of that world's wonder; (2) it is the only line between those two points and Buffalo under one management. PUBLISHED EVERY AFTERNOON EXCEPT SUNDAY.

Victoria, Friday, June 5, 1885.

CITY AND PROVINCE.

—Crops in the Alberni district are reported as in excellent condition.

—C. B. Willey, who went to Tacoma to stand his trial, has been acquitted.

—Anti-Chinese meeting to-night at Harmony Hall.

—Linen bandages will be acceptable at the Royal Hospital.

—The Olympian to-day brought twenty hogs for C. Beak, one horse and 479 sheep for J. Parker.

—The weather continues very cool. More snow is reported to have fallen on the Olympians.

—Mr. Mollet has a $250 contract from the provincial government on the main trunk road to Alberni.

—There are upwards of sixty white settlers exclusive of Indians and Chinese, in the Alberni district.

—The Colonist is only consistent in falsehood. The editor is a phenomenal perverter of the truth, and will finally pull up at sheol if he don't reform.

—The Queen of the Pacific will be due Saturday morning from San Francisco with 350 tons of freght and 250 passengers.

—The steamer Amelia has been chartered to carry the Methodist Church Sunday school excursionists to Pedder Bay on Dominion Day.

—The young ladies of the Methodist congregation Nanaimo, intend giving a strawberry social on Tuesday evening the 16th inst.

—There will be a strawberry festival and bazaar in connection with the Wellington Methodist church on Tounsday the 18th instant at Wellington.

A large new power press has been received at the Guardian office, New Westminster, on which the paper, in future, will be printed.

—The Daisy owned by Mr. Pidcock, of Comox, is regarded by the Nanaimo Free Press as quite an addition to the east coast route.

—The WEEKLY TIMES out this morning fully sustains the position it has reached of being the monarch of the British Columbia weeklies.

—Letters are detained for postage addressed Secretary, Dance Comm., Esquimalt; Mrs. R. Jameson, New Westminster; J. Scuillo, Yale; J. L. Golton, Esquimalt.

—Law in this province, says the Guardian, is a delusion, and justice, directed by the essence of wisdom which is supposed to exist in the four sparrow-heads at Victoria, looks very like a joke.

—One of the city dudes, being affected with hay fever, has gone to the islands to recover. The complaint is said to operate on men or dudes, pretty much the same as glanders do on horses.

—By information received from the Cariboo district we learn that there has been an abundance of rain during the past spring, and that crops and grass never were better.

—We understand the twenty-fourth of May celebration committee has done exceedingly well. Having made ample provision from former years, they not only paid all bills but will have a surplus to hand over for next year.

—A little boy arrived in New Westminister the other day from Germany, consigned to his parents in this city. The little fellow—about six or seven years of age—appeared to have enjoyed his long journey, and looked ready to start on a similar one, if found necessary.

—Major Dupont, who is up on the mainland, will probably go as far as the Columbia river, where prodigious frauds on the revenue laws are being daily practised. Whisky is an article in which there is free traffic at Farwell, and most of it comes from the United States without paying any duty.

—In the Police Court to-day Low Tow the chronic thief, received three months with hard labor; Maggie, an Indian woman, drunk, $4 and $1 costs; Louis, an Indian, assaulting Gaoler Hutchinson, $5 and $1 costs; Robert Colbert, Tommy, Belle Coola, and Robert Ellison, all drunks, $5 each.

—Judge Gray during the delivery of his address at the opening of the court in Nanaimo this week is reported to have said that for political purposes a portion of the press had decried the province. He urged the press and people to bury their political differences and harmoniously work for the welfare and prosperity of British Columbia.

—The argument is sometimes used that this country cannot prosper without Chinese help, but as other countries have prospered without them, built railways, and expended millions on public works, their growth in many instances being far more rapid than this province, all argument in favor of Chinese labor naturally loses weight.

A New Light House.

Mr. H. G. Lewis, agent of the marine department in this province gives notice that a light house has been erected by the government of Canada on Georgina Point, Mayne Island, at the N E entrance to Active Pass, in the Province of British Columbia, and will be put in operation on the 10th June. The light is fixed white, dioptric, of the 6th order, and is 56 feet above high water mark, and will be seen for a distance of about eight miles.

Latest Arrangement.

The Olympian arrived here this forenoon about 11 o'clock. By the latest arrangement, this vessel is to make the round trip between Tacoma and Victoria every day as heretofore, but leaving Tacoma at 1 a. m. and arriving in Victoria at 10 a. m.; returning, will leave Victoria at 1:30 p. m. and arrive at Tacoma at 9:45 p. m. She will make no stops except at Seattle and Port Townsend.

Disaffected Indians.

Indians in the upper country are getting discontented on the land question, as they say that they have been promised land on which grain can be raised, which promises up to the present have not been fulfilled. It will be well for the authorities to look into this matter, as the experience dearly bought in other parts of the Dominion ought to be a lesson that such things must be attended to promptly.

Weekly Sale.

A first class spring wagon, with top and runners and a set of single harness, nearly new, will be offered for sale at Messrs. Dufour & Co.'s Weekly sale tomorrow morning.

Sweeter than Honey.

The Maple Syrup just received from the maple forests of the Province of Quebec by Neufelder & Ross, is pure and sweeter than honey.

John Roach has written Secretary Whitney, agreeing to the faster test of the Dolphin, though maintaining that he has already performed his part of the contract with the government.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES MEETING.

A Lively Session—Very Personal Remarks.

The regular meeting of the School Board was held last evening. All the members were present. Upon the reading of the minutes, Mr. Braden rose to a question of in regard to a letter that had appeared in a newspaper from one of the trustees. It attacked the other trustees as scamps and vagabonds and villains. He did not know that he was sitting among men of that stamp. One of that class should not be allowed to sit here as a trustee of the School Board. Perhaps he had misunderstood the letter—

Mr. Fell, interrupting, said he was not here to discuss any question that appears in the public papers. If there was any one there that the cap fits he might wear it.

Mr. Braden, proceeding, said: I had thought the Board was composed of honest men, but I begin to think that there are some that are scamps and villains. I do not know that I ever robbed any one, but if any one came into my shop and got something that was different from what I represented it to be I would be a villain. If I went into Mr. Fell's store and bought two pounds of tea and got only one pound and a half ——

Mr. Fell—I said nothing that I did not put my name to. I never wrote an anonymous letter and never will. I was first attacked by that paper in a villainous manner.

Mr. Chambers.—I have been here 26 years and don't feel that I am a scamp or a villain. The letter don't hurt me.

Mr. Robertson.—The letters did bother him. Mr. Fell was a sort of privileged character, to say what he liked. Generally with him these discussions went in at one ear and out at the other. Since he was on the Board, he had striven to act in the interest of the Board and had tried to get along without unseemly squabbles.

Mr. Hayward—When one member assails other members as scamps it is right, on a question of privilege that Mr. Fell should be given an opportunity to explain himself, and failing to do so he considered it a duty they owed to themselves to pass a vote of censure.

Mr. Robertson—I will take no part in any squabble of this kind.

Mr. Chambers—As the cap does not fit me I will take no part in the squabble. Any member who feels aggrieved should get his redress outside.

Mr. Fell—It was not the first time he had been vilified by the same newspaper.

Mr. Hayward—There was not a man, woman or child who had not been slandered by Mr. Fell. He proceeded amidst frequent interruptions and calls to order, to charge that gentleman with having slandered the women of the Methodist church, with reviling the memory of the Virgin Mary, and with having spoken disrespectfully of our Savior.

Mr. Fell repeatedly characterized the statements as "falsehoods," concocted for the purpose of getting up a fanatical cry for electioneering purposes. He also demanded the names of the parties that he was charged with having spoken of as being immodest, and denounced it as a base slander. The names were not given.

Finally the chairman asserted his authority and called the speakers to order, and the matter was permitted to drop.

COMMUNICATIONS

From S. D. Pope, acknowledging the receipt of letter in respect to the $5000 grant.

From J. A. Halliday, in regard to testimonial as teacher.

A correspondence was submitted in reference to the expulsion of the boy Haines, and on consent the matter was allowed to drop.

Mr. Chambers reported in regard to the charge made against the boys of St. Louis College. Mr. Halliday had written his letter in general terms and with no intention of having it published. On investigation it was found that there was only one boy who might have cut the swing ropes, and he only attended about five days.

A letter was also read from the principal of the college. He stated that he had instituted a searching investigation and he was unable to find any proof that the charge was well founded.

An account from from J. P. Burgess, repairs, $6.50 was ordered to be paid.

GENERAL.

He also intimated that he had received the blank forms for the trustee election. Under the new school law a polling place has to be held in each ward. He was, on motion, authorized to issue the necessary notices.

Mr. Chambers moved that all teachers who require certificates of qualification for next examination be granted them, and the Secretary be authorized to make them out.

Mr. Chambers asked the date of Mr. Muir's appointment, and was informed that it was the 29th July, 1884.

A motion was carried that the janitor be suitably rewarded for his services.

Mr. Odlerhaus verbally invited the members of the Board to the annual picnic given by the pupils of the High School.

The Board then went into committee, with closed doors, to investigate charges of cruel treatment preferred by several parents against a teacher.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mr. E. E. Bligh, of Seattle, left for Clinton to-day.

C. H. Conkey, of New York; J. N. McQueen and W. M. McQueen, India; and J. W. Pence, Minneapolis, are registered at the Driard.

Senator Sherman will arrive at Tacoma on Monday, and will probably be in Victoria on Tuesday or Wednesday. He will go out on the C. P. R. to the end of the track.

F. O. Downing, the well known purser of the Idaho, of the Alaskan route, has gone to his home at East Oakland, California. For some weeks past he has been under the weather, and takes a vacation to recuperate. During his absence Harry Havens, of the Oregon, will officiate as purser on the Idaho. Mr. Downing expects to be at his post again on the August trip of the steamer.

The Olympian brought the following passengers: P McBride, G Flood, J Anderson, J M McEwen, J Williamson, A Murray, J Muller, J Murphey, J Donohue, J McQuinn, J Thompson, G E Thompson, Chinaman, C H Conkey, W Harkins, J S Forquhar, J Perch, 2 Indians, H Flin, S Waterman, Dr. S. C. Devan, S Rein, F T Meyer, Miss Anderson, W H Williams, Chinaman, J Seetton, J Panza, D Drummond, R D Pitts, 10 Chinamen, P Phenigam, J Williams, J Ganner, S Keiler, Mrs Shakespere, E Biendi, Mrs Ra'soll, Capt. Ellis and wife, Mrs Starr, 4 children and nurse, H Stevens, J E Bryce, 31 Chinese, Mrs F Bartlett and child.

Question for the Government.

Is it true that an ex-convict has recently been appointed to the provincial police force under Superintendent Roycraft? The government, or its paid advocate the Colonist, will please answer.

Riel's Trial.

A Montreal dispatch announces that Riel's trial has been fixed for the 22nd inst. at Regina. F. X. Lemieux, M. P. P. for Levis, and his partner, Chas. Fitzpatrick, will defend Louis Riel, with Hon. Mr. Mercier as counsel. Mr. Lemieux says he is entirely opposed to a commission trying Riel, as that commission has been appointed by the government, and the government cannot be considered impartial, as it is an enemy of Riel. He will insist that his client be tried by a jury of his countrymen in the ordinary way. It is stated on good authority that Dr. Fiset, M. P., for Rimouski, has organized the defense, and will arrange for expenses. Dr. Fiset accompanied Riel when the latter was sworn in member of parliament for Provencher, and has long been a personal friend of Riel.

Real Estate Transactions.

Considerable activity in real estate at Coal Harbor is reported for the present week. Sales have been effected by Messrs. G. Robertson, Tatlow and Gravely. Lots having a frontage of twenty-five by a depth of one hundred and twenty have realized prices varying from $150 to $250, according to locality, in the subdivision of lot 196. Mr. Gravely sold several acres in the subdivision of lot 264 at $300 per acre. About eighty acres in lot 196 are now about cleared of the timber, which very materially changes the appearance of the Coal Harbor and False Creek frontages.

The Dominion Telegraph Service.

Frederick N. Gisborne, Government Superintendent of Telegraph, has just finished the line between Fort McLeod and Medicine Hat, which is now in working order, thereby saving the government $2500 a month in courier service. It is to be hoped that the government will at once build a line to Edmonton, which would save the $100 a day now being paid for couriers.

Cattle for Lorne Creek.

VANCOUVER.

COAL HARBOR.

Messrs. F. C. Innes & Co. having opened an office at Granville, on Coal Harbor, intending investors can now avail themselves of the opportunity offered by examining, and purchasing directly upon the ground. The advantage of doing so is obvious, therefore, before investing your money you should see Coal Harbor and call upon Messrs. F. C. Inner & Co. at the same time.

Certificate of Incorporation.

WE, THE UNDERSIGNED, hereby certify that we desire to form, under the provisions of the "Companies Act, 1878," a Company, as hereinafter mentioned.

1. The corporate name of the Company shall be "The Victoria Times Printing and Publishing Company, Limited Liability."

2. The objects for which the company shall be formed are:
(a.) The printing and publishing of a daily and weekly newspaper.
(b.) The carrying on of a general printing and publishing business.
(c.) The renting, purchasing, and holding of such land and buildings as may be found necessary and convenient for the purposes of the Company.
(d.) The doing of all such things as are incidental or conducive to the attainment of the above objects.

3. The capital stock of the company shall be $20,000, divided into 200 shares of $100 each.

4. The time of the existence of the Company shall be fifteen years.

5. The number of the Trustees shall be three, and their names are John Campbell McLagan, John Grant and William Templeman, all of the City of Victoria, who shall manage the affairs of the Company for the first three months.

6. The principal place of business of the Company shall be at Victoria.

7. A stockholder shall not be individually liable for the debts or liabilities of the company, but the liability of a stockholder shall be limited to his proportion (based upon the amount of his respective shares) to assessments levied, and the charges thereon if advertised as delinquent, during the time that he is a stockholder, upon a share or shares of which he is the holder, as shown by the stockholders' register book of the Company; assessments and charges thereon when taken collectively shall not exceed in the aggregate, the value in dollars printed or shown upon each share when issued.

Dated at Victoria, this thirtieth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five.
